September 20, 2010, Love Field, Dallas, TX...Business Jet Access (BJA), a leading aviation services provider, has been awarded a Certificate of Registration for the successful implementation of the International Standard for Business Aircraft Operations (IS-BAO).

Issued by the International Business Aviation Council, the IS-BAO certification is a code of best practices designed to help flight departments and charter operators worldwide achieve a high level of safety and professionalism. Business Jet Access successfully met the industry standard verified by an accredited IS-BAO auditor.

“We are very pleased to have met this world-wide standard of excellence,” said Brian Hoffman, General Manager, Business Jet Access. “The benefit to our charter and aircraft management customers is peace-of-mind, knowing our operational practices exceed those set by governing agencies, such as the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).”

Hoffman said BJA, as part of the IS-BAO certification, has successfully implemented a Safety Management System (SMS) and meets all criteria for operating aircraft internationally.

In addition to achieving the IS-BAO certification, BJA has been issued an ARG/US Platinum rating re-certification, an FAA Part 145 Repair Station certification and has been designated as an authorized air carrier for conducting flights into and out of Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA)
